

Promyse training on social entrepreneurship in the fields of health and social care

When I'm attending trainings I'm always searching for few things: quality, connections (networking), new ideas/ knowledge. Promyse short time staff training in Vilnius, Lithuania, on 3-7 of September 2018 gave me opportunity to gain all of those.

Promyse training gave a time and place to think about social entrepreneurship, really loved it how training was build. We had time for theoretical things as well as for group works. You could feel the confidence of speakers, that it was their field, so there was no space for doubt about their baggage of knowledge.

The best thing for me always is networking. I enjoy listening how other participants see the same thing, problem, solution. This multicultural surrounding gives better insight about the topic, problems people could face. The biggest part I really learn by listening to others and exchanging my experience.

Promyse training gave me a lot of new information about social entrepreneurship in the fields of health and social care, I really enjoyed vising good practices, seeing that things are working also in reality not only on paper.
